DEFINE YOUR STYLE

CONTEMPORARY, CRAFTSMAN, TRANSITIONAL, FRENCH COUNTRY.
NO MATTER YOUR STYLE AND WE'LL MAKE IT HAPPEN

MAKING DREAMS COME TO LIFE

Some clients have been thinking about their renovation for years, others perhaps just a short while. Either way, we know you have great ideas and are excited to talk more about your project. By scheduling a design consultation we are able to give you our fullest attention and delve into more specifics so that we can present you with a custom cabinetry design and pricing proposal.

Initial consultations typically last 30 to 45 minutes, depending on the size and scope of the project. Jot down any specific questions you might have ahead of time, so we can be sure to address them during our time together. We'll also provide you with a "next steps" agenda to help get your project moving.

There are two different types of consultation appointments: we can either meet at your home or at our showroom. Meeting at your home the first time allows us to see your space, get a sense of your style and take measurements if needed. However, by meeting at our showroom you can browse our displays and samples. Either appointment is a great start, it's up to you what works best.

With over 3 decades of combined design experience we are able to connect you with some of the most talented contractors, architects, and other craftsmen in the Santa Barbara area. Curating a skilled design team ensures an excellent experience from start to finish.

"You have an opportunity of a lifetime. Design your cabinetry don't just buy it." — KATIE CROOK, DESIGNER

THE MODERN KITCHEN

Goodbye Work Triangle

For decades, designers have subscribed to the idea that your sink, main cooking source and refrigerator must be within a certain distance of one another for maximum efficiency. We're here to tell you: there's a better way!

Hello Work Zones

Today's homes are more open concept and encourage the family to participate in group activities. By designing with work zones the kitchen becomes a place where multiple people can efficiently cook, entertain and relax.

Rule #1: There Are No Rules

We are often asked, "Can we do that?". When it comes to color, textures and functionality we can be as trendy, creative or unique as you want to be. Mixing metals: absolutely! Multiple colors : absolutely! Redefining the standard is what we are all about.

Blending Form & Function

Aesthetics play a major role in enjoying one's home. But how you are able to function in the space should also be a part of planning process. Our designs incorporate many modern organizational components that making cooking and living in your space a breeze.

Stylish & Trendy

How to incorporate trends and still create a timeless space.

“THE DETAILS ARE NOT THE DETAILS,
THEY MAKE THE DESIGN.”

CHARLES EAMES

- 1 Soft and subtle tones. Unlike years past when a neutral was thrown onto every surface, we are now seeing the use of contrasting textures to create visual interest. For instance, bright metals like chrome or nickel, and mirror backsplash to reflect light. While all the materials are still very neutral, they are also elegant and intriguing.
- 2 Lighting is a very important element of design that can be often overlooked. It plays a large role in the actual functionality of your home, but can also help accent some of the beautiful components that were thoughtfully selected for your design. Under cabinet lighting, island pendant fixtures and in cabinet lighting are just a few areas to consider.
- 3 White cabinetry will always be classic because its crispness allows other elements to stand out and be featured. What's exciting though, is the ability to add bright, punchy colors as accents into the space. Jewel tones are popular and contrast well against a soft white palette.
- 4 Utilizing natural stone to accent and define specific areas. The use of the “waterfall” edge on a countertop surface is great. Not only do you see more of the actual stone surface, but it gives some grounding to an otherwise large object.

WHAT REAL CLIENTS

are saying about their experience

Elizabeth

Heritage's professionalism, artistic perspective, and comprehensive and practical knowledge of the cabinetry field, made my kitchen remodeling project proceed smoothly for me.

Sandy

I was all set with cabinets that I had chosen from another source when I came to Heritage and saw their sample cabinets on display. It became very evident to me that they have the knowledge to find me cabinets and help me design a kitchen that I really loved, not just a functional kitchen. Our designer opened my eyes to possibilities for making my small kitchen unique.

Julie

Heritage was the most attentive showroom we interviewed when shopping around for kitchen cabinet designers. Our designer welcomed all of our ideas as well as contributing her expertise. Because we were new to our area, they were instrumental in helping us locate reputable vendors in our area who could enhance our kitchen makeover. We could not have had a better experience!

DESIGN PORTFOLIO

"This isn't happily ever after. It's so much more than that." - Kiera Cass

After all the planning. After all the old has been removed. After all the construction has been completed, we finally get to celebrate the finished product. There is no better feeling than walking into our clients homes and seeing them grin from ear-to-ear.

As designers, we love getting to know each of our clients and feel fortunate to be a part of their renovation. Design is more than just selecting the "perfect" materials, it's about changing someone's life which is why we are so passionate about what we do.
